

Beasts, Men and Gods

The astounding adventures of FERDINAND OSSENDOWSKI

Have you read this amazing book? Do not miss it!

Send it to some man—or woman—for Christmas, as something at once unique and distinguished

It is those who have read the book who are praising it superlatively—for example:

Dr. ALBERT SHAW, Editor of The Review of Reviews, calls it: "The most extraordinarily interesting book I have passed under my eye for years."

Col. KALPASHNIKOFF writes: "I defy any one to begin this absorbing book and let it out of his hands until the last page has been turned."

The Boston Transcript: "The narrative is replete with adventures, the most startling intermingled often with the picturesque."

The New York Tribune: "The book is full of sidelights on current political and religious conditions in Eastern Asia."

ISAAC MARCOSSON writes: "It is one of the most enthrallingly interesting human documents that I have yet seen."

The New York Times: "A book of astounding, breath-taking, enthralling adventure . . . His report and comment . . . give much authentic and desirable information of conditions that may yet be of the highest consequence to the rest of the world . . . It is a fascinating book."

EUGENE S. BAGGER calls it: "The most stupendous and magnificent thing I have read in a long while."

Not the least amazing thing about the book is that such adventures have fallen to the lot of the one man in ten thousand who possessed the equipment to appreciate the importance of the experience, the personal power to survive it and to write of it. $3.00

The Sea and the Jungle

By H. M. TOMLINSON

A superlatively entrancing narrative of travel down the Atlantic lanes, crowded with pictures that etch into the memory. $3.00

NEW FICTION

To Tell You the Truth

By LEONARD MERRICK

A really new book by the most appealing of modern writers, as men like Barrie, Chesterton, Hewlett, Howells, Locke and others delighted to testify—because of the personality he reveals, "so gay it is, so sad, of such an alluring spirit, so firm a temper." $1.90

The Driver

ITALY, OLD AND NEW

By ELIZABETH HAZELTON HAIGHT

The Boston Transcript says that "at the regretted close of the book will come a sense of personal experience so vivid that it will be difficult for readers to realize that they have not themselves trodden these ancient ways which, radiating from Rome of the Immortals, lead into the heart of her history."

Illustrated from photographs by the author

$2.50

Pirandello : Three Plays

"Six Characters in Search of an Author" is a play which created a riot in Rome at its first production; which is a recent success in London and a present sensation in New York; which is to be produced this winter by Pitoeff in Paris and Reinhardt in Berlin and Munich. The publication of it, with two other plays, also in his characteristically original and brilliant manner, has moved the critics to say that "the publication of Pirandello's 'Three Plays' seems to us now as important a work as the first publication of Shaw's plays. If ever a man of our times has been able to write real plays . . . Pirandello is the man." Clearly this is the book to give to any one interested in dramatics.

First American Edition, limited to 1,500 copies

$3.50

Sheila Kaye-Smith's The Tramping Methodist
